

Summary of the New York State Enacted Budget FY 2025-2026

Overview

The enacted FY2026 New York State budget totals $254 billion.

Overall, this budget is very positive for CSEA members. CSEA was successful in securing several key priorities, including an extension of the civil service exam fee waiver, a 25-year retirement for DMNA Firefighters, $900 million in new capital funding for SUNY hospitals, and an expansion of the work zone speed camera program, among other items. Further details are below.

While this budget represents a net gain for CSEA members, it comes at a time when the President and Congress are considering up to $2 trillion in federal spending cuts—many of which would directly impact state funding. If these cuts are enacted, public employees across the state could face layoffs, furloughs, hiring freezes, and a more challenging environment for negotiating open collective bargaining agreements.

In preparation for these cuts, the enacted state budget includes language to allow the Division of Budget to reduce appropriations if more than $2 billion in state revenue is lost. The Legislature will have a 10-day window to propose its own alternative reductions. If they don't, the Division of Budget's cuts go into effect.

State Operations

Civil Service

- Extends the New York Helps Program through June 30, 2026. This extension is also applicable to local governments that have opted-in to this program.
- Waives state civil service exam fees through December 31, 2027, and authorizes localities to waive civil services fees during the same time.
- Introduces an optional lag pay program for state employees hired on or after July 1, 2026.
 - This is an interim measure as the state works to fully eliminate the lag payroll for new employees by 2030.
 - The program gives new state employees the option to receive an advance payment between the employee's start date and first paycheck.

- This advance will be repaid over the first 14 pay periods.
- Requires supervisors and employees who work in human resources in state agencies to take gender-based violence training.

State University of New York (SUNY)

- SUNY Downstate University Hospital & Medical Center
